The Maverick Bank Goes Under.

LOT OF CONVICTS TURNED LOOSE

Curtis Pleads "Not Guilty" to the Charge of Murder.

The Maverick Bank Failure.
By Associated Press.]

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—At a meeting of all the Boston National Banks at the Clearing House this morning, resolutions were unanimously adopted that all banks associated should at once combine to relieve the necessities of the depositors of the Maverick National bank, by making an advance to such depositors upon the security of the assignment of their claims against the Maverick bank. A committee was then appointed to carry the resolutions into effect. It was voted that the Maverick bank should be expelled from the Association. Colonel French says this morning that he has not made an assignment. He states he fully believes that the affairs of the Maverick bank have been managed with wisdom and prudence by the receiver, and that the stockholders and depositors will get back all the money intrusted to the bank's care.

NEW YORK, The suspension of the Maverick bank of Boston did not cause much of a surprise among bankers in this city. It has been talked about for a week as a coming event, and if any banks were involved they had a chance to protect themselves. President Baker of the First National bank of this city, returned from Boston last evening. He said the failure would not hurt his bank and that he did not know whether it would hurt any other bank or not. He saw no reason why it should.

The doors of the Maverick bank bore notices this morning. One read, "Closed by order of the National Bank Examiner Ewer." Immediately beneath was the following, "Notes due at this bank to-day will be found at the Second National bank." Two policemen who stood at the entrance had little to do as there was no excitement, and but few people seeking an entrance to the banking rooms. Lewis Lombard, second Vice President and eastern manager of the Lombard Investment Company, says deposits of the County Maverick bank is immaterial and that concern will not be affected by the suspension of the bank except temporary inconvenience in the matter of keeping accounts. All the customers who held checks on the Maverick bank on return of same will be given checks on other banks in which the Lombard Company deposited. Several such checks were presented this morning and were redeemed.

The different National Banks will immediately call a meeting of the directors or ratify the vote of the Clearing House Association. Arrangements will soon be made that checks against the depositors in the Maverick National Bank will be honored at some convenient bank where the committee will make its headquarters.

The losses of the Maverick National Bank are estimated at upwards of $2,000,000, which wipes out the reported surplus and undivided profits of $1,000,000, the capital of $400,000 and all of a hundred per cent assessment that the stockholders may be called upon to contribute. But as nearly the majority of the bank's share are owned by President Potter it is doubtful if a full assessment can be collected. The depositors, however, should only lose a fraction of their deposits. The irregularities of the Maverick Bank extend back over a period of more than two years.

A New York Agent Sums up the Chilian Affair.
By Associated Press.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—W. R. Stern has been for five years manager at Valparaiso for a firm of Chilian merchants in this city and his business brought him in contact with the leading men in political and business circles of the southern republic. Stern is now in this city. He left Valparaiso four days before the riot in which the Baltimore's sailors were involved.

"To understand their exact feelings just now," said Stern, "it must be remembered the governing and influential class of Chilian people are as well educated, cultivated and shrewd as Americans. They have a clear comprehension of the extent and power of the United States and know just as well as we do what would be suicidal for them in points of governmental policy. The Chilian masses are ignorant, but they have no influence or hand in affairs. A little time and consideration among such able men as the Chilian leaders will result usually in a calm and good judgment. The final Chilian action in the premises, I predict, will be dignified and reasonable. The popular and sadly mistaken American feeling that the Chilians are an inferior lot of men is responsible for so much talk of war in this country. I think it will all blow over. There are three recent events which have combined to incite Chilian indignation against American favor. Admiral Brown's operation when the Insurgents landed at Quintero aroused the whole people. Quintero is forty miles from Valparaiso. The day of the landing, the San Francisco, commanded by Admiral Brown, was in Valparaiso Bay and the Esmeralda and Cochrane vessels, Insurgents.

"The San Francisco suddenly steamed toward Quinteros and refused to answer the signals of the Esmeralda, which passed by her four times. Admiral Brown ran close to the insurgents landing place and cruised about, gaining complete knowledge of the strength of the insurgents. After gaining complete information the San Francisco steamed at once for Valparaiso. Upon arriving an officer was sent ashore and went immediately to Balmaceda's palace. That night the Valparaiso papers came out with complete information of the strength of the insurgents, accrediting it to a United States man-of-war. This made things so hot for Admiral Brown that four weeks later, when the insurgents were in control, he explained that his officers in visiting the palace had given no information, but all cable messages had to be read by the government before being sent his visit was for that purpose, and in checking this message to Washington the government got the information. But that explanation did not satisfy the people. If Admiral Brown did give out information so obtained and apprised Balmaceda of just what was coming, he ought to be dismissed from the service. Perhaps his explanation is correct, but it can readily be seen how no explanation could dissipate the intense prejudice aroused."

A Chilian Consul's Opinion.
By Associated Press.]

DENVER, Nov. 2.—A San Francisco special to the News says: W. D. Catton, an old resident of this city, who is Chilian Consul here, makes some sensational statements over his own signature. He makes every effort to defend the Chilian government, and says:

"There evidently is much more noise being made over this matter than the facts justify. In Chili these affairs are being discussed in a calm and thorough manner. Chili does not seek trouble with the United States, but merely insists that this so called 'serious affair' needs to be thoroughly investigated before any reply can be given to the dispatches sent by the State Department. If Chili is wrong she will so admit, but she will not be unduly hastened any more than would be the United States under similar circumstances. Chili is naturally hurt that so great a nation as this should have shown so great hostility during all their troubles. In fact the whole action of the United States for years has been against Chili, while the latter has always done everthing to harbor kindly feelings, newspaper articles to the contrary notwithstanding. The writer knows for a fact that Minister Egan is a strong partisian of Balmaceda. This government is undoubtedly responsible for the loss of many lives in Chili. Had not the Itata been forced to return to this country the war in Chili would have been ended long ago. This government is wrong, and if the question was left to a popular vote it would be almost unanimous in favor of Chili."

The Effect of the Black Thorn.

More Chilean News.
By Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The lagging interest in the Chilian affair was revived in a measure this morning by the visit of Senor Don Pedro Montt to the Navy Department. He remained with Secretary Tracy for a hour. Meanwhile messengers had been sent to the Department of State. They reported Secretary Blaine with the President at the White House. After a conference with the President, Secretary Blaine returned to the State Department, and Secretary Tracy and the Chilian Minister had a conference with him. It is impossible to learn the object of Senor Montt's visit.

There was some comment upon the call of Montt on Secretary Tracy as to the foreign Minister's observant official proprieties. Usually they transact any business they may have with the Government to which they are accredited solely through the Secretary of State. The departure from the usual practice by Senor Montt to-day is accounted for on the ground of inexperience in diplomatic formalities. There is reason to believe Senor Montt's visit had reference to an inquiry now being made at Valparaiso into the assault upon the Baltimore's sailors, and that in behalf of the Chilian Government he sought to secure the testimony of some American sailors as contained in the report of Captain Schley's board of officers. As the Chilian inquiry is being conducted in secrecy and as Captain Schley is not permitted to have one of his officers present during the examination of the arrested American sailors, the United States Government felt bound to decline to permit its sailors to give further testimony. If, however, the conduct of the investigation is changed and the proceedings are made public to the world, Captain Schley will allow testimony to be taken by the Chilian authorities aboard his vessel or will send his sailors ashore to testify in his desire to establish the truth.

Secretary Tracy to-day said there was no warrant for the sensational war-like dispatches at this time. The United States government requested an investigation of the assault upon the Baltimore's sailors; that the investigation was being made, and nothing could be done until the results were known. He saw no reason for any apprehension in the mind of the American public. The Secretary's views are evidently shared by the officials at the Department of State, who look with amusement upon what they regard as clumsily disguised efforts of certain enemies in England to press to ferment serious trouble between the United States and Chili, in an effort to undo the advance made toward the establishment of close political and trade relations between the United States and the South American Republics by the pan-American conference and its correlative movements.

The Ordinance Bureau announced this morning that in four months the harbor defense vessel Monterey, now being built at San Francisco, would be ready for service. She now lacks her guns and armor. The former is finished at the foundry in this city and one 12-inch rifle will be tested this week at Indian Head. The other will soon be ready. The armor plates are being delivered and tested. The Monterey, in the opinion of naval authorities, will be the most formidable craft in the American navy with the possible exception of the monitor Puritan, also nearly completed.

Convicts Liberated by a Mob.
By Associated Press.

KNOXVILLE (Tenn.), Nov. 2.—At one o'clock this morning 200 mounted men came in from the mountains and liberated 200 convicts working in the mines at Oliver Springs. So quietly was it done that people in town knew nothing about what happened until six o'clock this morning, when they discovered the stockade was a mass of smoking ruins. All short-term prisoners were furnished with citizen's clothing, and with the exception of a few captured, all are now at large.

This make more than 500 penitentiary convicts turned loose in that locality since Friday evening. The Governor of the State was here yesterday, but left this morning for Nashville. It does not appear that there was any resistance on the part of the guards, and nobody was hurt. The wildest rumors prevail, to the effect that the miners will immediately proceed to Tracy City and release the convicts there.

Maybrick Case Again.
By Calbe and Associated Press.]

LONDON, Nov. 2.—In the Court of Appeals the Maybrick case commenced to-day. Sir Charles Russell, in opening his argument, said the appeal raised a most important question. The plaintiffs for whom he appeared were executors of the late Mr. Maybrick, who had effected an insurance of $10,000 with the defendant's insurance company in favor of his wife, Mrs. Florence D. Maybrick, now confined in the working jail. Defendant's counsels said they had paid on account $1,000 of the amount claimed, but they refused to pay the remainder. In support of this refusal he said the defendants submitted that the conviction of Mrs. Maybrick was not conclusive. Continuing, Sir Charles said, on the contrary, the plaintiffs submitted the fact that the sentence being commuted was not evidence of innocence. The real question, he claimed, was whether Mr. Maybrick having effected a policy in favor of his wife and whether, assuming he died at her hands, this was any answer to the executors' claims.

The ex-Attorney-General then proceeded to cite autorities in favor of his contention. The present appeal grew out of the judgment given on July 20th last in an action brought in the interest of Mrs. Maybrick against the insurance association to recover $10,000 insurance upon her husband's life. The Court then decided, as Mrs. Maybrick had been convicted of having murdered her husband, she could not recover the amount for which his life was insured, as his death was caused by poison, and for whose benefit the action was brought.

The day after this judgment was rendered, a high legal authority made the assertion that the life insurance association's refusal to pay Mrs. Maybrick the insurance on her husband's life, on the ground that his death was caused by her, would enable the convicted woman to bring out in civil action the facts traversed in the murder trial, since she could compel the insurance company to prove she murdered her husband. The high legal authority is said to have based his opinion on the fact that according to English law a conviction was not proof between other parties, but only between the prosecution and the prisoner.

To-Morrow's Elections.

To-morrow a great political struggle takes place in New York and Ohio that will go far towards settling the Presidential election next year. In Ohio the tariff is the leading issue with silver on the back seat, while New York will devote herself to downing Tammany. Great principles are at stake in both States and the result will be watched with much interest. The GAZETTE will publish the full returns and the reading public can rely on getting the news in every detail promptly. In order to publish full particulars we have written to the Associated Press to send us everything possible about the elections up to 6 o'clock every evening until the result is known, and if the paper come a little late to town subscribers it will be due to the fact that we want to give them all the news. News of the election will also be bulletined in front of the GAZETTE office as fast as received, so those who are interested can get the earliest as well as the latest news from the great battle fields by looking at the GAZETTE bulletins.

THE tariff on eggs, about which Mr. Mills has been so facetious, is proving no joke in Canada. When a duty of 5 cents a dozen was levied the Canadian producers assayed to secure a market in England, large consignments being made to Liverpool and London, and for a while the superior quality of eggs, as compared with consignments from Holland, Belgium, France, Germany and Denmark was the subject of extensive comment. Recently the consignees have returned reports of enormous waste, dissatisfied customers, who do not relish musty eggs, and the difficulty of overcoming obstacles incident to the long journey. It may seem a trifling subject for discussion, but prior to the passage of the McKinley bill our imports from Canada amounted to 15,017,912 dozen per annum, valued at $2,065,088.

THE final breaking of the will by which Samuel J. Tilden had left the greater part of his fortune for the foundation and maintenance of a free library in New York is another illustration of the difficulty which millionaires find in controlling their money after they are gone. New York city loses a splendid benefaction, and one which, as the Sage of Greystone well knew, would be especially fruitful. It becomes more apparent every year that men who wish to give their money to cities and States for beneficent purposes must do it in their lifetimes when they can control it, for it is almost impossible to draw up a will that will stand the test, if there is enough in it to warrant a big fight being made. "Undue influence" and "temporary insanity" are sure to do their part in breaking anybody's will.

WHILE the California Traffic Association are "fixing rates," the GAZETTE would respectfully suggest to them to look a little after Nevada interests, that is if they want our trade. The people of this State are becoming very weary of contributing every spare dollar to San Francisco and the railroad without getting anything in return.

WISCONSIN has levied an annual quarter of a mill tax on her people for a gymnasium, law school building and a house for practical cheese making for her University students.

THE DEMON STEER OF KANSAS.

A Mastodonic Wild Ox That Creates Terror on the Plains.

George Wilson, one of the best known cowboys of the southwest, tells a remarkable tale about a mastodonic wild steer which has roamed the ranges along the border for many years and whose aggressiveness and power make him the dread of every roundup outfit in the country, writes a correspondent of the St. Louis Chronicle.

No brand has ever been placed upon the animal, yet no adventuresome rustler has ever dared to appropriate him. The pugnacious brute is known far and wide as the "demon steer" on account of his freaks. The animal knows no fear, and his immense size makes him the terror of everything that comes in his way. With lowered head, glistening eye and sonorous bellow he will madly charge at anything that crosses his path. Many outfits have rounded him up with the other cattle, but when the circle gets too small to suit him he rushes past the riders as if no such obstruction existed in his line of flight.

Once one of the big outfits determined upon his capture, but it was a sadly demoralized outfit when he got through with it. He gored two horses to death, scared a dozen cowboys out of their wits, stampeded the entire herd and then rushed through the camp scattering the equipage in every direction, completely ruining it. The undertaking was at once abandoned, and from that time until now no attempt has been made to capture him.

Wilson says the steer killed a big silver tip bear in a fair fight two years ago. The combat was a terrible affair and was witnessed from a safe distance by two cowboys. The bear attempted to creep up on the steer, but the latter saw him and at once gave battle. As the steer charged the bear rose on his hind feet and gave the ox a terrible blow with his paw which served to stagger the beast for a moment, but, with a bellow of rage, the steer again rushed at the bear, and before he could administer another blow had hit him fair in the ribs and sent him rolling on the grass. The fight then became fast and furious, and soon the bear was trying to crawl away from his enraged opponent. The steer was too quick for him, however, and headed him off and fast gored him to such an extent that death ensued.

The steer will die of old age and remain the king of the plains of the Panhandle country until he becomes food for the coyotes.

THE USEFUL TOAD.

By Loafing Around the Gas Lamps He Grows Fat and Haughty.

Of all the song birds of Pennsylvania there is none whose beauty attracts so little favorable attention as the golden plumed night warbler called the toad, says the Brockwayville (Pa.) Record. Yet he is a most entertaining creature if you take him in his way. He is far more useful than he is pretty, and, for that matter, in point of usefulness he is more of a success than in entertaining his hearers with his lugubrious music.

The toad has the same ardent love for a dinner of bugs and insects that a darky has for a hunk of watermelon or a small boy for a green apple. On this account many well-posted gardeners always turn into their gardens any stray toads that come hanging around the premises, and it is dead sure that the man who has a good crop of toads has a small crop of insects.

The toad looks like a slow creature, and in some things it is. But in his way when he is fishing for bugs or flies he has no flies on him. He has them in him before he is done. The best place to watch the interesting method of catching his dinner which the toad indulges in is under some of the open gas lamps about town. Bugs, moths and all sorts of insects come to the fire to have their wings singed. The singing properly done the insect falls to the ground.

Under nearly every lamp every night one or more toads loaf around. When the singed bug drops down the toad looks upon it as an invitation to rise up, Sandy, and get your meal. He hops a little closer, then, crawling as slyly as a cat, he sneaks up toward the square meal. When within about two inches he stops, winks once, gives his head a little jerk, and the bug is gone to where it will do the most good.

The toad has a long tongue, and this tongue pops out and catches the luckless insect. Although the toad looks to be an awkward, indolent fellow, he is really one of the most interesting of nature's creatures, and a few minutes spent in watching him at his supper will be quite entertaining.

Another Fad.

Whiskers are going out of style again, and in the future clean-shaven faces only will be popular. For two years, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, every man who could raise a mustache and whiskers did so, because it was all the rage. Now it's the proper thing to shave every bit of hair from the face and let the hair grow long and fall over the collar if you can train it to do so. Full faces are not going to be fashionable in the future, and professional masseuses are doing a prosperous business in training the skin and flesh on the face to look flabby and peaked. The object is to look as intellectual as possible, and with a hatchet face, the hair brushed back from the forehead and falling over the coat collar the effect desired is obtained. The fad originated in New York and is going to be a craze in a few weeks. It is not known who is responsible for it.

The "Wicked Bible."

Among the curiosities of literature possessed by one of the big libraries of New York city, after a long search, is the edition of the Scriptures, published in several small volumes, known as the "Wicked Bible." There are two sets of books to which this title applies. One was published in England in 1631 and the other in Germany about a century later. Their peculiarity consists of the omission of the word "not" in the Seventh Commandment. Both editions are perfect in other respects. The history of Bible printing shows that the types have played many wild freaks with the text, but never anything equal to this. The "Wicked Bibles" are accordingly very highly prized by collectors.

A Pioneer's Experience With Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I am a pioneer in this county, having been here 30 years. Four years ago my little son Kilery became blood-poisoned by impure virus in vaccination. His arm swelled terribly, causing great agony; physicians said the arm must be amputated, and even then his recovery would be doubtful. One day I read about a blood purifier, new to me, and was surprised to learn that it was prepared by C. I. Hood, with whom I used to go to school in Chelsea, Vt. I decided to have my boy try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and was much gratified when it seemed to help him. He continued to grow better as we gave him the Sarsaparilla, and having used 8 bottles is now entirely cured. Women.

The common afflictions of women are sick-head-aches, indigestion and nervous troubles. They arise largely from stomach disorders. As Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the only bowel regulating preparation, you can see why it is more effective than any other Sarsaparilla in those troubles. It is daily relieving hundreds. The action is mild, direct and effective. We have scores of letters from grateful women.

We refer to a few:
Nervous debility, Mrs. J. Barron, 142 7th St., S. F.
General debility, Mrs. Belden, 510 Mason St., S. F.

The "Gazette" Weather Bureau.

The GAZETTE has secured the services of the Hon. T. V. Julien, said to be the greatest weather prognosticator of the age, to take charge of its weather bureau. As the GAZETTE has a storm due here on the 5th of its own make, Mr. Julien will not commence until after that date, as he has no desire to upset the plans already laid, but after that date he can be relied on to predict storms, earthquakes, etc., with unerring certainty. General Irish has attended to this branch of the service during the past, but seems now to be off his meteorological nut for some reason.

There is None Better.

Dr. R. L. St. John of Howland, Putnam county, Missouri, takes especial pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, because he knows it to be reliable. He has used it in his practice for several years, and says there is none better. It is especially valuable for colds and is a preventive and cure for croup. This most excellent medicine is for sale by J. B. McCullough, Druggist.

Guaranteed Cure.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds on this condition. SIGNS OF PROSPERITY.

The Inyo "Independent" Takes an Encouraging View of Matters in That Section.

The Inyo Independent says: There are several matters now on the tapis in Inyo county that are sure to have great bearing on the future of the valley. There is no doubt but that a sale of the soda works at Keeler has been made to a wealthy English company and that the industry will be greatly extended. This will insure the employment of a large force of men and horses, and as these will have to be fed, a good market will be afforded for farm produce. It is expected that a large quantity of Inyo marble will be used in the construction of the new post'office in San Francisco. As the present force is kept constantly employed getting out marble for the Mills building, and will be for some time to come, the number of men employed will necessarily be greatly increased. It is said that a telegram was received at Independence on Wednesday stating that the parties who were expected to buy the land and water of the Eastside Canal Company for colonization had left New York for Inyo county on that day. It is almost an assured fact that a colony of settlers will be located on the Eastside next spring. The Hillside Company of Bishop will have their dam completed and plenty of water for irrigation next spring. There is no better fruit or vineyard land in the State than that owned by this company. The Lone Pine Canal Company are steadily at work but do not expect to have water at Lone Pine in time for next summer's crops. The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible, however. The fact of all this activity will be to force a railroad connection with Mojave. It is absolutely necessary that the valley should have a southern outlet. The Los Angeles Herald states that the Terminal Railroad Company will be running trains over the new line to Salt Lake in eighteen months and that coal from Utah will be delivered in Los Angeles at six dollars per ton. With a connecting line to Mojave it can be delivered here at the same price, thus enabling large reduction works to be erected and all our ores to be worked at home. Of course all this cannot be accomplished in a day, but the force of circumstances all tends to its immediate fulfillment.

HEAVY HORSES.

A Hint to Nevada Breeders of the Over-Grown Norman.

An exchange says: Fanciers of heavy horses, particularly among farmers, are beginning to think that the breeding of these mountains of horseflesh has been carried too far. There is an ever-present danger in the breeding of all animals that the size question will be overdone and carried beyond an economic standard. Some breeders are running so much after the heavy type of dray horses that they are leaving the plow out of sight. There is really no reason to do so, for farmers who wish to use lighter horses on their lands can have a market for their geldings if the animals are able to trot well, almost as good as they can have for horses up to the heaviest wagon work. Nothing is more useful on the streets at present than a thick, square-set horse, wide between the fore legs, active, and not an inch more than 16 hands; indeed, 15.2 is a good height. They are scarcely procurable, and leggy mongrels of no apparent breeding, from their looks, have to be taken instead at low prices. Bates, the great Southern breeder, was opposed to the idea of breeding for excessive size. He saw that the food of support was too great in the expense of daily maintenance for the results obtained. The same principle is true with horses. Muscular power and effectiveness are not increased in proportion to size.

THE NEW TIME CARD.

M. in San Francisco.

A Peculiar Disease.

A peculiar disease is manifesting itself among cattle at Hamptonville, Fresno county, which baffles the veterinaries. Milch cows seem most susceptible to the fatal malady. The symptoms are sluggishness, inactivity, refusal of food, failure to chew cud, uncommonly thin passage from the bowels, cold, bloodless tail, a glassy, uneasy stare from the eyes, and finally a weak, staggering motion of the hinder limbs when walking, and a disposition to lie down most of the time. The disease proves fatal within two or three days from its first appearance.

A Lecture.

J. White McCammon, formerly of the State University, who has been spending five years in Boston, is here shaking hands with his old friends. Mr. McCammon will lecture here to-night at the Methodist Church on "American Authors," and will entertain the public with an interesting discourse.

Are Your Children Subject to Croup.

As a preventive and cure for croup, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has no rival. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant and safe to take. There is not the least danger in giving it to children, as it contains no injurious substance. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by J. B. McCullough, Druggist.

The consumption of horse and even dog flesh in Germany is on the increase. In the manufacturing town of Chemnitz, in Saxony, 575 horses and 312 dogs were slaughtered for food during the last year, an increase of 130 horses and 79 dogs over the preceding year.

Coming to Stay.

The terrible aggravated form of influenza which physicians on the continent of Europe designate as "la grippe," seems to have effected a permanent lodgment this side of the Atlantic. It makes its reappearance as soon as the cold, weather sets in, and not infrequently during the summer months. In the spring it is rampant. Nothing checks its first attack, or so effectually counteracts its subsequent ravages, as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The fortifying, invigorating influence of that beneficient tonic protects the system against the dangers which beset a feeble physique and a weakly constitution consequent upon abrupt transitions of temperature. It diffuses a genial warmth through the diaphragm, which is the best corrective or preventive for a chill, and is a means of neutralizing the effect of exposure in damp, or rigorous weather. In dyspepsia, liver complaint, costiveness, rheumatism, malarial and kidney troubles it is never resorted to without good results

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find th Electric Bitter to be the best Liver and Kidney medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. TO-MORROW'S ELECTIONS.

A Full Vote Desired in the Different States.

The GAZETTE will be disappointed if there is not a full vote polled in New York, Ohio, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania to-morrow, for the Republicans this year have much to favor a full vote; particularly the natural indignation of men who were cheated by Democratic falsehoods last year, and who know now that retail prices of "everything they need from the cradle to the grave" have not been advanced. They know that they get manufactured products as cheaply, and most of them more cheaply, than they did one year ago or two years ago. For instance, they pay less for farm implements, harvesters costing $10 less than in 1890, and not half what they paid ten years ago, while mowers cost them $2 or $3 less than a year ago, and about $42 now, against $75 in 1880. They get cotton cloth and woolen clothing cheaper than ever before. They pay about $5 per family less for sugar than they did a year ago. Meanwhile they get good prices for their farm products, and have enormous crops.

Well Recommended.

Dr. Dille of Oakland, in introducing Professor McCammon to President Jordan of the Leland Stanford Jr. University, where a lecture was given last Saturday night, wrote: "The lecture was superb, the language and diction elegant and the critical estimates of the authors discussed most intelligent and just." Hear the lecture and see the pictures of your favorite American authors to-night at the Methodist Church.

Professor McCammon's was the first lecture ever given in the famous Stanford University.

A MARVEL AT FIGURES.

An Illiterate Missourian Who Works Wonders.

He Cannot Tell a Figure When He Sees It, Yet Can Solve the Most Difficult Problems in an Instant.

Although the public has heard something of "Rube" Field, the mathematical prodigy of Hazel Hill, what has been said and written of him has generally been guessed at. He is the mathematical wonder of the world, as regards calculations. "Rube" is as illiterate as a savage, and can instantly solve any mathematical problem. He could not recognize his name if it were placed before him in type three feet high, nor can he tell a figure seven from a cipher, yet he can tell how many grains of wheat piled upon each other would reach the sun if you give him the distance from earth to the sun, writes a Kansas City Times correspondent from Hazel Hill, Mo. Such a problem he considers quite simple, and will announce the answers by the time you have concluded the question.

"Rube" is not easily engaged in conversation, and there is not a person in the world to whom he would confide his secrets. No more to his mother than to you. He believes that all mankind is in league to take from him his gift, or, as he puts it, his "mystery." He regards every man in the same way, and that ungovernable fear will, no doubt, keep him out of sight of the public, as it has for the last twenty years. Though he is mercenary to a degree in his dealings he does not seem to possess any special desire for riches, but rather evinces the desire to see "fools," as he calls the human family, put to some expense on his account. It makes him feel big to have men hire him to be interviewed, and yet he is not vain enough to make a public exhibition of himself, another evidence of his unusual composition.

He cannot tell how he manipulates figures and computes numerals as with a thought, and this inability to explain bothers him least of all who are aware of the fact. He says he is aware if he could write an arithmetic with his system of calculation as a basis he "could make more money than ten railroads," but he can't do it and doesn't care anything about it. He is satisfied with his lot and has great plans for the future. It is his belief that he came into this world to herald to men that beyond their vision of the science of numbers lies the key to all the mysteries of life. The great work he is to do upon earth has not been outlined to him by the Omniscient, but will be in due time.

Taking him unawares I asked:

"Can you add 26,896,432 to 1,938,548 to 69,598,624,138 to 1,846,028,001 to 14,374 without stopping to figure?"

"That makes 71,473,501,493," said he on the instant, and then he laughed heartily at my surprise.

As I called the numbers to him he added them, having the aggregate of the first two before I had finished the third, and of the whole while I caught my breath after enumerating them. When I read him a column of figures ranging from tens to hundreds of thousands, the length of a sheet of legal cap, and he had furnished me an accurate aggregate the moment I finished.

Such an evidence of unexplained power will astonish the most credulous, but what must one think when such a character says that he is a living, walking chronometer, and proves the same before you can dispute it. He mistrusts all men, and a financial consideration, together with the inducements of acquaintances, is necessary to set his tongue going, which done, he keeps you busy listening, for he talks like a torrent rushes, swears with the fury of a cyclone, and calculates with the rapidity of electric pulsations. I employed him to be interviewed for one hour, and desiring to test him as to his knowledge of time without giving him an opportunity to consult a timepiece, I asked:

"What is the time now, professor?" (He delights to be called "professor.")

"Twenty-five and one-quarter minutes after three," he replied. I reached for my watch to see if he answered right, and before I could see he said: "Your watch is one and one-quarter fast."

"How do you know?" I asked.

"I can't tell you, but I am right," he said. And so he was, as the Western Union regulator proved. I then concluded to test him further, and resolved that I would say nothing of it when his hour was ended and note if he knew it. Imagine my surprise when in the middle of a problem he stopped me and announced that his time was up. Consulting my watch, I found him right to a second. Previous to that I had asked him the time in St. Petersburg and he stated it correctly, saying that he was conscious of the degrees of longitude and latitude in all his calculations of time. He knows their location and can answer any question of time whenever asked. Often he has been aroused from sound sleep and upon being asked the time would state it accurately while rubbing his eyes. Reading the dial plate of a clock in Berlin, he says, is no more trouble to him than that of the watch in my pocket, and in this he brings proof of the assertion that he is conscious of every clock tick in the world, whether sleeping or awake.

His memory is almost as remarkable as his calculating genius. Having heard any statement he will remember it, and, though he may not understand words he hears, he will use them in the same or a similar sense to that in which they were used when he heard them. By this means he has a vocabulary far in advance of other illiterates. Speaking of his youth he said he remembered no change, so far as his knowledge of things is concerned, since his seventh year, at which time he came into possession of his "mystery." He is not fond of his relatives, who, he believes, would make a fortune at his expense if he was not so smart as to prevent it.

CURLING THE MUSTACHE.

Some Points on the Custom Given by a Barber.

"How long has the custom of crimping the mustache been in vogue?" was asked a dapper little barber who runs a shop on Washington street, says the Boston Globe.

"It was first introduced in the United States about four years ago," he replied, "but it was known in Europe half a century back."

"Does the crimping of the mustache injure the growth in any way?"

"Yes, very seriously. You see, human hair is naturally oily, which indicates a healthy growth. If a single hair is placed under a powerful microscope it will be found to resemble a pipestem—that is, a little tube runs its entire length. Through this channel flows a current of oil. Now, if this is dammed up, it has the same effect as binding the stalk of a plant; the ripe sap is cut off and decay follows. Therefore, in ninety-nine cases out of one hundred, where the mustache is crimped it finally begins to fall out, much to the grief of its owner. Where there is unusual vigor this result does not obtain, which accounts for the exceptions named."

"Do all your customers have their mustaches curled?"

"Oh, no; it's the middle-aged and young fellows who enjoy the style. When a man begins to wrinkle up and his knee joints begin to rattle he cares very little for those finer points in his personal appearance."

"Do the dandy police officers like to have a curl put into their whiskers?"

"Do they? Well, I should think so. There are some very handsome men who wear the uniform of the city, and when they go on duty they look as neat as wax. A low-hanging mustache would not harmonize with the ensemble of these stoical guardians of the peace. It is seldom one of them goes out on an ostensible hunt for crime with his mustache in the condition described."

A Sensitive Saint.

A painter had been commissioned to paint the image of a saint on the refectory wall of a convent. The price stipulated was very low, but it was agreed that the painter should have his meals provided at the expense of the convent until the work was finished. But the only food supplied to the poor artist was bread, onions and water. The day for unveiling the fresco at length arrived. The friars stood round the artist, the curtain was removed. It was no doubt a very fine picture, but the saint had his back turned toward the spectators. "What does this mean?" shouted the indignant prior. "Padre, I was compelled to paint the picture as you see it, for the saint could not bear the smell of onions."

"German Syrup"

The majority of well-read physicians now believe that Consumption is a germ disease. In other words, instead of being in the constitution itself it is caused by innumerable small creatures living in the lungs having no business there and eating them away as caterpillars do the leaves of trees.

A Germ Disease.

The phlegm that is coughed up is those parts of the lungs which have been gnawed off and destroyed. These little bacilli, as the germs are called, are too small to be seen with the naked eye, but they are very much alive just the same, and enter the body in our food, in the air we breathe, and through the pores of the skin. Thence they get into the blood and finally arrive at the lungs where they fasten and increase with frightful rapidity. Then German Syrup comes in, loosens them, kills them, expells them, heals the places they leave, and so nourish and soothe that, in a short time consumptives become germ-proof and well.

FACTS

ABOUT THE TEA WE DRINK.

But few people know that there is such a thing as sun-cured tea in existence, and fewer have seen it. But there is, and it is of all teas the sweetest, purest, and most fragrant. You ask at once how it is that it is not offered for sale and that you know nothing of it. That is answered easily; but it is necessary to present first a few details. The public only knows two general classes, viz., the green and the black teas.

Green Teas.

Few people know that the bright bluish-green color of the ordinary teas exposed in the windows is not the natural color. Unpleasant as the fact may be, it is nevertheless artificial; Prussian blue, silica, gypsum, plumbago, and other unhealthful mineral colors being used for this purpose. The effect is twofold. Not only makes the tea a bright, shiny, attractive green, but also permits the use of "off color" and worthless teas, which, once under the green cloak, are readily worked off as a good quality of tea. The abominable coloring process even admits of the use of foreign substances, and the English government, which looks closer into the genuineness of its supplies than ours, has in some of the adulterated "tea" of teas found redried leaves, straw, fragments of matting, rice-husks, and willow leaves. In fact, it is openly stated by an English authority that hundreds of thousands of pounds of sloe, ash, and willow leaves are annually imported as tea, which without the coloring process would be impossible. They report tea as one of the most notorious of all adulterated articles of commerce. The temptation to make sweepings and bad tea into a merchantable product with a few cents' worth of green coloring matter is too strong to withstand, and the worthlessness of the trash that often finds its way to this market labeled "New Crop," "Best Quality," "Green Tea," etc., would simply astound the public if revealed, to say nothing of the unhealthfulness of the Prussian blue, plumbago, gypsum, and the other mineral colors that are employed.

Black Teas.

The basket and pan fired Japan teas, as well as the China teas that may be included under the general head of "black teas," get their color from the firing or toasting process, but mineral coloring matter is also frequently used to give a certain desired commercial appearance. The firing and the coloring, as in the green teas, largely conceals the identity of the tea and permits the use of the very cheapest teas, to argue nothing for the deteriorating effect of excessive firing, which must be resorted to when a very cheap product is used and an extreme color desired.

Beech's Tea (Sun-Dried).

Concerning sun-dried teas, the people of the Pacific Coast have heard but little and know less, although it is extensively used where it is known and understood. We are told that when tea is so poor it cannot be sold at home or safely shipped to the English markets, it is shipped to America; that we will drink anything. That may possibly be one of the reasons we have not been offered sun-dried teas. They were good enough to send elsewhere.

The sun-dried teas being sun-cured, no coloring matter is used, hence nothing but pure tea leaves can be employed; for unassisted by manipulation or coloring, all attempts at adulteration or the introduction of foreign leaves or material would be bold as glaring. That it is, therefore, sweeter and far more fragrant than the artificially colored green teas and the manipulated basket or pan-fired teas, you hardly need be told. That it is more healthful than the mineral-colored teas, is also apparent. That it is more expensive, is also true; and that is another reason you have never seen it. There is not so much profit in it as there is in the cheap adulterated and colored teas.

About the Cost of Teas.

According to the custom-house reports, the amount of tea received at San Francisco last year (1890) was 6,840,137 pounds, and the value $956,290, or a fraction over 13c per pound. The consumer, of which the reader was one, paid for that 13c tea all the way from 50c to $1 per pound. In other words, for that $956,290 worth of tea the consumer paid between four and five millions of dollars. There are your enormous profits, and there you will probably find the chief reason why most of you never heard of a sun-dried tea. As the sun-dried teas have no mask, they are compelled to be absolutely pure and of better quality than the artificially colored and manipulated teas. Hence the margins on them are smaller, and many dealers don't care about handling them, and you know nothing about them. But it is the object of this article to tell you where you can get them, and what to ask for, and all about them.

"Beech's Tea," guaranteed to be the pure sun-cured leaves, is now offered to the people of the Pacific Coast. It will be a revelation to you. You doubtless never saw any natural leaf. Have your grocer break open a package. It will be found in color to be just between the artificially colored green and the black teas, and the drawn tea presents a clear, brilliant canary color, of delightful fragrance. It is offered to the people at 60c per pound, the same price that many artificially colored teas are sold for. But its guaranteed purity makes it more economical to use; for a less quantity, say about twenty grains, is required per cup. As there are 7,680 grains to a pound, there will be seen to be between three and four hundred cups to the pound, or at the rate of about one fifth of a cent per cup. Its economy is therefore manifest. It is put up in one-pound packages only, in patent air-tight and moisture-proof parchment, with the trade-mark that is found at the bottom of this article plainly printed on the package. It is sold in this form for two reasons; one is, that the original strength and aroma is preserved; and second, there can be no deception, which would be quite possible if it were sold in bulk, without the name and trade-mark attached.

Caution.

Recollect that the margin of profit is so much smaller on Beech's pure sun-dried teas than on the artificially colored teas that you won't get it if tea by any other name can be put off on you. Ask for

BEECH'S TEA

SUN DRIED

"Pure As Childhood."

If your grocer does not have it, he will get it for you. Price 60c per pound. The above trade-mark and price is plainly printed on each package.

Perhaps the best way to get it is to go where you know they have it and are willing to sell it. For instance, it can be had without difficulty at

A Necessity.

The consumption of tea largely increases every year in England, Russia, and the principal European tea-drinking countries. But it does not grow in America. And not alone that, but thousands of Europeans who leave Europe ardent lovers of tea, upon arriving in the United States gradually discontinue its use, and finally cease it altogether.

This state of things is due to the fact that the Americans think so much of business and so little of their palates that they permit China and Japan to ship them their cheapest and most worthless teas. Between the wealthy classes of China and Japan and the exacting and cultivated tea-drinkers of Europe, the finer teas find a ready market. The balance of the crop comes to America. Is there any wonder, then, that our taste for tea does not appreciate?

In view of these facts, is there not an immediate demand for the importation of a brand of tea that is guaranteed to be uncolored, unmanipulated, and of absolute purity? We think there is, and present Beech's Tea. Its purity is guaranteed in every respect. It has, therefore, more inherent strength than the cheap teas you have been drinking, fully one third less being required for an infusion. This you will discover the first time you make it. Likewise, the flavor is delightful, being the natural flavor of an unadulterated article. It is a revelation to tea-drinkers. Sold only in packages bearing this mark:
